

Building Block Number #1: Authenticity

Week #1 Recap

Wake: The results we leave behind.

We are 100% responsible for our wake.

- A. Are people better off when I move through their lives?
- B. If they had the choice would they do the relationship all over again?
- C. Does my wake leave people encouraged or drained?
- D. Does my wake encourage growth in others?
- E. Does my wake leave people inspired or insecure?
- F. What is their countenance saying about my character?
- G. Does anybody ever come to me with a problem?

Authenticity: The Courage to Be Real

We will begin to see real relationships forged when we have the courage to get real with our family.

1. Authenticity _____ truth.
 - We will never have _____ in relationships without _____.
 - Authenticity is not merely _____.

John 17:17

- _____ has always been the fuel for _____.

Psalms 119:151

Luke 21:33

Psalms 119:60

What is keeping me from having authentic relationships?

2. Authentic relationships are _____ on truth.

Matthew 7:24-27

- Authentic relationships are forged when we are determined to _____ truth and not just _____ it.
- Building relationships on _____ is our default position.
- _____ tell us what our relationships are built on.

What is keeping me from building my relationships on truth?

3. Authentic relationships require _____.

II Timothy 2:14-15

- A. "No Wake Relationships" are diligent to avoid _____
 - Attack the _____ and not the _____.
 - Too many foolish _____ will have catastrophic effects on the _____.

How many of my difficult relationships are a result of too many foolish words?

- B. "No Wake Relationships" are diligent to prioritize the _____ of _____
 - We will either let _____ build relationships or _____ destroy them.

What is God's opinion of how you are handling this word of truth?

- "No Wake Relationships" are for those who know how to " _____ the word of God."
- "No Wake Relationships" understand how to apply _____ truth to _____ relationships.
- "No Wake Relationships" refuse to _____ on what God has _____.

Authentic relationships "cut it straight!"
Are you cutting straight the word of God?